Potential MEAD Premium Worksheet

Leonardo is working and making $950 per month. He also he receives $900 in Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) per month. He is currently on APTD Medicaid with a spend-down. Below is an example of what his potential monthly MEAD premium would be.

Enter the earned income of the applicant/applicant spouse.	Total = $950
Subtract $65 for OAA and APTD Subtract $85 for ANB	- $65 Total = $885
Subtract any IRWE's (Impairment Related Work Expenses).	- $0 Total = $885
Subtract half of the remaining Earned Income.	$442.50 Total = $442.50
Add in any Unearned Income (SSA and SSI).	+ $900 Total = $1342.50
Subtract any other allowable deductions (such as, allocated income, court ordered alimony/CS, wage garnishments, training expenses, other mandatory deductions).	- $0 Total = $1342.50
Subtract the Adult Standard Disregard for the household size. 1 Person = $13 2 Person = $20	- $ 13 Total Net Income = $1329.50
Compare to the Premium Amounts chart to determine if there will be a potential premium.	Potential Premium: $0
